IV.

A friendship came into my life which threatened the peace and happiness of my home and the very salvation of my soul. I was tempted to leave my husband and to marry another man. Overcome by a kind of mad infatuation, I considered my case hopeless until I turned in prayer to Our Lady of Perpetual Help. Once I had asked Our Blessed Lady for help in earnest prayer, the friendship, in some unaccountable way, was brought to an end and terminated finally in a real aversion. I realize this could happen only because Our Blessed Mother was interceding for me with her Divine Son. A thousand thanks to Jesus and Mary.

"GO-GIVERS" VS. "GO-GETTERS"

"Go-getters" have been familiar to us for some time under this expressive if inelegant name, and now, as a logical consequence, "Go-givers" are also breaking into the good society of everyday parlance.

Friends of the missions, whose hearts and purses are attuned to the missionary needs of the Church in co-operation with our heroic missionaries, certainly belong to the latter category. Our Lord had such in mind when He said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Go-givers" care not so much about what the world may give to them; their main concern is to make the world a better place to live in and to spend themselves in the effort.

THEY SHOW APOSTOLIC SPIRIT

"Archbishop Costantini, Apostolic Delegate to China, in an interview with the Holy Father declared that he could report, with pleasure, that missionaries in China are giving proof of a truly heroic, apostolic spirit, infinite courage and patience.

"All of which is very true. The Catholic missionaries in China are indeed giving proof of a 'truly heroic, apostolic spirit,' a spirit, I venture to say, which vies with that of the great St. Paul in facing every conceivable trial—physical, spiritual and mental. It is a spirit that urges them to sacrifice everything to plant the faith in the hearts of a people, too long subservient to superstition and now plunging headlong into the maelstrom of materialism and irreligion. As the Church sings of her first Apostles so she may sing today, 'These are the men who living in the flesh planted the Church into their blood.'

"And, come to think of it, these men are deserving of a little more consideration than they are getting. True, thousands of friends who know them, commiserate their trying position in China. Too bad there are still some so unapostolic of mind as to decry the movement to aid the foreign missions—even with prayer." —"Franciscans in China."
