What's In A Name?

"Brethren, we are gathered together on this sad occasion in loving memory of a dear friend who recently passed away." With these words an imaginary parson kicked the bleached bones of the word "Academy" into the moldy grave of extinction.

What's going on? In this day and age of changing times, we report another noble tradition fallen before the axe of verbal exactness. The national administrative office of the Sisters has legally changed the name of our school from IHM Academy to IHM High School. That's what's going on!

The Sisters' reason for changing it lies in the fact that they feel the Academy is a misnomer -- it infers the idea of a boarding school. The Academy hasn't been a boarding school for four years.

When the news first broke out there was some moaning and groaning from the student body. "Why couldn't it wait until next year?" and like remards were heard. Apparently some of the students feel the change is as welcome as an empty gas tank on a Saturday night date.

The Academy may not be a boarding school--but the name carries other connotations.

There's status in going to an academy. When IHM students are asked where they go to school, they reply "Academy" with an air roughly analagous to the proper sniff of solemnity expected from a curt British butler.

"High school" sounds so listless, dull, uninteresting, and common place. With our victorious teams and school spirit the word "Academy" has become practically synomymous with Old Glory in the minds of IHM students.

The change carries practical difficulties as well. The banner in the gym, the letters on the front of the school building, letter sweaters, cheers, etc., will have to be changed.

We think it would be best to give it the old college try however. It's here to stay--even if it will be awkward to say at first. It's always difficult to change and it takes time. We feel the students might as well accept it and get used to it.

In closing this "eulogy", we would like to say; "Good-by dear old Academy--revered by graduates and honored by undergraduates--you were a good name. We'll miss you!"

Adieu - Class Of 1966

In any school, the backbone of the student body is the senior class. By their age and good example seniors are leaders—and this year's class is no exception.

This year's seniors are a terrific group and we would like to wish them farewell and all the luck on the beginning of their careers. We wish to thank them for all they've done for the high school during their four years here.

Future Frosh Oriented Ransom

Eighth graders from St. Pius and St. Thomas schools received some valuable insight on the courses and clubs offered by IHM at a "Welcome" session, May 6.

Following a welcome by John Hartnett, student council president, 55 students heard brief introductions to each type of class available at IHM. Robin Hultner spoke on the language courses, and Kris Yacks told about typing, shorthand, and home economics.

The various civics courses were presented by John Miller, and Pat Keane introduced the math and algebra courses. Joe Erickson and Mike Ransom presented the physics and chemistry courses, respectively. Other speakers and their topics were: Ed Mihelich, biology; Bob Elgee, geometry; and Chris Jacobson, mechanical drawing and art.

The purposes and requirements of various clubs were put forth by club representatives. The Glee Club performed several selections, and Robin Hultner urged the students to consider the club next year.

Steve Dolan spoke on the religious clubs available, including Sodality, Legion of Mary, and Vocation. Mike Ransom told about Press Club, and Pat Gray gave a rundown on the sports program and Lettermen's Club. Suzy Kryger spoke on the Pep Club, Girls' Sports Club, and cheerleading.

Jim Rarick, president-elect of student council, wrapped up the assembly by thanking the students for attending, and urging them to participate actively in school next year, saying, "Without class pride and school spirit, you just won't 'pack it' around IHM.

Marycliff Girls Explain SSCA

"All you have to do is bomb over to Spokane on your skateboard." Three representatives from Mary-cliff High School, Spokane suggested this mode of transportation in a talk about the Summer School of Christian Apostolate.

The girls described the SSCA as a five day course in leadership, Christian apostolic action, and Christian Commitment.

The summer school, to be held at Gonzaga University
July 17-23, will feature as faculty members The Rev. William D. Ryan, St.

Ignatius High School, San Francisco, and The Rev. David J. Bowman, Loyola University, Chicago.

"The summer school is something you just can't express--don't miss it !" was Jan Daugharty's final comment.

Senior Girls Feted

Senior girls from IHM and the surrounding high schools attended a tea with their mothers. The tea was held at the new convention center, North Shore Lodge, April 15.

The girls and their mothers listened to speeches by members of the Washington Water Power Company.

Drivers Ed To Be Offered

Approximately 25 students from IHM High School will participate in the annual summer Driver Education course.

The course, open to all students 14 years of age and over, is sponsored by School District 271 under the direction of James F. Guimond.

The program is destined to teach students good driving techniques, as well as road courtesy. The program is in accordance with the National Safety Council in an effort to cut down on the growing number of traffic accidents.

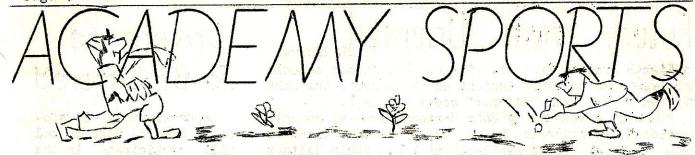

Students enrolled in the first session from May 30 to July 9 must report to the CHS parking lot on May 30 at the time appointed, Mr. Guimond said. Those enrolled in the second session should report on July 11.

Alumni Honor Class Of 1916

The IHM Alumni Association will honor the Class of 1916 at a reception on Sunday afternoon, May 15.

Doctor Walter Matson, president of the association will welcome the golden jubilarians.

Members of the class are Selina Chaney Maher, Helen Hamilton Young, Margaret Johnson (Sister Mary James, IHM), Agnes Kildea Dickey, Ruth Murphy, and Earl Dawson.

With the reputation our school has for good baseball, that sport is what comes first to our minds in spring. This is rightfully so, for it is a well-established and popular game here. But there is another sport, a new one, which deserves the notice of Panther fans. The track team was able to compete in only three meets this year, the last one held several weeks ago, because most of us don't know much about it. Nevertheless, it is a regular sport here now, and perhaps one of the most important. The students should be more familiar with it so that it can enjoy a greater turnout and more popularity.

There is no doubt that track is a valuable sport. It's a lot of fun, and it requires tremendous physical conditioning. Also, and this is very important, it promotes a great deal of individual strength. All training is up to the participant and can be as hard as he makes it. The competition on the track and in the field is personal too. A person is completely alone, with his victory or defeat up to him alone. Thus track is a wonderful opportunity for self-discipline and real training. It should get a lot more notice in the next few years here, and I sincerely hope that it does.

I would like to speak for the whole school in saying good-bye to this year's seniors and thanking them for their contribution to athletics. This year saw an undefeated football team, a basketball team with an 18 -4 record and a state championship, and a winning baseball squad. This certainly wouldn't have been possible without our seniors, and they're going to be hard to replace.

-Robert McFarland

Students Select Cheerleaders

Cheerleading tryouts were held May 4 in the Brown gym. Junior varsity cheerleaders selected were Ellen Matson, Mary McFarland, and Patricia Miles.

Diane Chase and Leslie Fraijo join Jill Kirsch, Nancy

Novak, and Kathy Triechel on the varsity squad.

Alternates are Donna Anderson for junior varsity and Linda Blessing for varsity.

This year the faculty and student body were invited to vote along with the Pep Club.

Competes

This year the IHM track team participated in three track meets which were all held at Lakeland High School.

In the first meet, the Panthers took third in many events. They ended up with 27 points and a third place in overall competition.

Post Falls, Bonners Ferry and Lakeland gave the Academy competition in the second meet. The Panthers acquired 11 points, placing 5th in a field of eight.

The last track meet proved the most spectacular for the high school. Butch Singer took first in the broad jump and Pat Gray took first in the 100 yard dash. The team racked up 47 points, placing third in a field of five schools.

Warriors Whomped

The IHM High School baseball team took two games from the Kootenai Warriors by scores of 6-1 and 16-2 on April 27 and May 10.

In both games the IHM pitchers, John Miller and Dave Beller, threw identical games, each striking out 12 batters.

IHM vs. CHS

Jacobson Bags Double For Victory

IHM Panthers scored three runs in the seventh inning to come from behind and edge the Coeur d'Alene Vikings 4-2 in the final game of the "City Series" played at Person field Thursday.

The game was won in the seventh inning when Rick Jacobson, Panther left fielder, belted out a long double into the stands to score the tying runner on third and push Mike Gray on to third.

Larry Riplinger went out on a fly ball to centerfield and Gray scored after the catch.

Pat Gray singled over shortstop to drive in Jacobson with the final run.

John Miller, Panther pitcher, struck out 14 and walked four Viking batters in posting his seventh victory of the season.

IHM Grinds CHS For Two Wins

The Panthers swept two games from the CHS Vikings last week by scores of 3-1 and 5-4.

In the first game the Panthers scored two runs in the third inning and one in the fourth. The Vikings tallied their run in the bottom of the fourth when Larry Ruff blasted one over the right fielder's head for a home run.

In the second game the Vikings scored two runs in the first inning and two in the second on Panther errors.

The Panther nine rebounded with five runs in the third inning on the strength of a Coeur d'Alene error.

After the third inning neither team could score, so the Panthers picked up their third win of the season.

Chicken Feed Termed Filling

The high school's Letterman's Club held its largest and last chicken feed of the year, April 24.

A total of sixteen barrels of chicken and four cases of pop were downed in an all out effort to drain this year's treasury.

After this feast everyone played in a slow pitch softball game at St. Thomas field.

TEAM TOPS "OLDSTERS"

"Who forgot to bring the oxygen tank?" was one of the expressions gasped out at a baseball game played between the Academy baseball team and a group of "older" men. The game was played at Saint Thomas field.

It was an 18 inning duel filled with comedy and errors. The end of the game saw the "youngsters" finally beating the men with the score 15 to 13.

It pays to be young!

Major League Scouts Miller

Five Major League Scouts were in attendance as John Miller, IHM baseball pitcher, sturck out lubsters to give IHM its fourth straight win over the CHS Vikings.

Miller is considered by many as the best pitcher in the Inland Empire.

Miller has full tuition scholarships to the University of Idahp; Washington University; and the University of Washington.

Miller is this year's winner of the "Clifford Tip' Maker Memorial" award for the outstanding baseball player.

Trojans Down Ponthers 4-2

Post Falls Trojans gave the Panthers their second defeat of the season by outscoring them 4 to 2 on their home field May 9.

The losing pitcher, John Miller, gave up but two hits, both of them home runs over the short outfield fences.

Ron Davis held the Panther's batting attack down to win the game.

Robin Hultner

A quiet change that could cause a riot is being made in our alma mater. No more will there be an IHM Academy. Rather, the doors at this school will open next September admitting the first students ever to attend the IHM High School.

Many have asked, "Why the Change?" The explanation lies in the fact that an academy is a boarding school. It has been four years since the Sisters have housed students from out of town in attendance at IHM. This is a fine technicality to promote such a drastic charge.

Drastic? Well, what will you reply when asked, "What school do you go to?" Doubtless you will stutter, "The Acad..." until the change has really taken hold and sunken in.

"Academy must be rooted out from other traditions and institutions around the school. Letterheads and rubber stamps must be renovated. Letter sweaters will take on a new look--no more will athletes receive the honorable "A". Even the pep cheers will be re-written. Perhaps "On IHMHS"--a real mouthful!

But even if the name is changed, IHM will remain the same wonderful school I have attended these past four

History Class Sees Air Defense Movie

The junior class viewed a Prudential Insurance Company's 20th century movie presentation during its American History class on May 2.

The movie, "Alert," commentated by newsman Walter Cronkite, showed the development of the United States Air Defense Program.

The program consists of three radar lines in Canada, The Dew Line (northermost), the BMEWS (Ballistic Missiles Early Warning System) and the Pine Tree line on the U.S.-Canada border.

The program is controlled by Norad (North American Air Defense) whose headquarters are at Colorado Springs. It is carried out by SAC (Strategic Air Command.)

Special Glee Groups Entertain at Show

The Glee Club special groups, directed by Sister M. Alphonsa, performed for the Horizon club talent show, at the North Junior High School auditorium, April 28.

The proceeds benefited the new Kootenai Memorial hospital which is presently under construction.

The boys special group, "Double Quartette Plus One," sang "Ghost Riders in the Sky."

The girls' special group sang two songs, "Hush-a-bye" and "Maria".

TO

Seniors Present Class Day

Class Day exercises for the Class of 1966 were held Sunday afternoon, May 15.

The introduction was given by Valerie McRill. She extended a hearty welcome to all present and expressed a special note of thanks to parents and teachers.

The class history was read by Anne Kryger, freshman; Marianne Cieryca, sophmore; Mary Beth Matson, junior; and Elaine Wilson, senior year.

Robin Hultner gave the class poem and the Class song, "You'll Never Walk Alone", was sung by the entire class.

A welcome was extended to the graduates by Dr. W. Matson, president of the Alumni Association. John Miller, president of the class, gave the reply to the alumni.

Following the exercises, the Alumni Association sponsored a luncheon.

Senior Tea Held

Eight members of the senior class and their mothers attended the annual Senior Tea, held April 15 at 3:30. The tea is sponsored annually by the Washington Water Power Company.

After refreshments were served one of the members of the WWP gave a talk to the girls and their mothers on careers in Home Economics.

The event was held in the Convention Center of the North Shore Lodge.

Vive Jean d'Arc

The French II class recently celebrated the end of a successful school year under the guise of a Joan of Arc party. The 26 members of the class and Sister M. Alphonsa, their teacher, spent the period at picnic tables behind the convent grotto. Dining on poor boy sandwicheswith French bread, red punch served from wine bottles, and vanilla dixie cups, the seniors passed the time recounting their high school experiences. All agreed they would never forget this year's French class, but heaved a sigh of relief that it was finally over.

Senior Party Is Celebrated

A senior party was held at the home of Bob Myers Saturday evening. One of the main attractions of the event was a large cake decorated with the names of all the seniors.

Sophomore-Senior Party Takes Place

Baseball anyone? The seniors and sophomores saw plenty of action last Friday night as Mike and Ed Mihelich sponsored the annual sophomore-senior party.

The evening began with baseball, badminton, and basketball. A humorous rendition of tackle football was also enjoyed by the boys and girls alike.

After everyone had worked up a ravenous appetite, Mrs. Mihelich and Mrs. Romans served a buffet dinner.

The evening ended with dancing on the patio.

Next Tuesday evening the seniors will be feted by the juniors at the home of Jeanie and Leslie Fraijo.

'The Time Has Come'

I turned and looked at the building. Her face was lovely, cut cleanly with modern lines. I didn't see the peeling paint and the dandelions.

The grate clanked softly under my feet as I pushed open the heavy door. Classes had been dismissed and the long halls were empty. Remembered sounds came to me as I walked through the silence. Each room held clear memories: the individual teachers, the lessons, and the smells.

I started up the stairs, feeling the cool metal of the hand rail against my skin. Light streamed into the library and the books seemed to cry out for the touch of a human hand.

I looked into the office. I could picture Sister Avellina gently stooped over the PA asking for the attention of the classes.

The hall was lit only from the skylights, pouring

Parents Sponsor Senior Dinner

Sunday evening, as a final touch to Class Day, the parents of the graduates sponsored a fried chicken dinner for the seniors. The event was held at the Athletic Round Table at 7:00 P.M. Dance music was provided by Tom Pasco and his Combo.

The evening beganquite formally, but with the addition of popular music on Linda Kurdy's record player, the tempo picked up considerably.

The band obligingly thumped out several rolllicking Charlestons and from there on in the party was a clear success. pools of sunlight onto the streaked linoleum.

Something made me turn around. The white Madonna faced me with quiet sereity. As I looked into her soft face, the truth flashed through me. She knew what I had been so afraid to admit. It was all over.

The memories were mine, they could be dimmed, but never erased. What I now felt had been felt by others, and would be felt by those I must now leave.

"Farewell, IHM, with your laughing young people and diligent teachers. Always preserve the ideals that have made you so treasured by the Class of 166." TRIAL REPORT:

Government Class vs. Miller-Hartnett

A most humorous example of government in action was displayed on the spur of the moment last April 26 in government class (fifth period). A mock court was set up to try John Hartnett and John Miller for "breaking and leaving the classroom without permission and with malicious intent." The following is an excerpt of Miller's trial (Hartnett having been tried earlier):

As the jury (Mike Peters, Valerie McRill, Ann Kryger, and Dave Boller) roared with laughter, the defendant, his face reddening, pleaded innocent. Jerry Jaeger volunteered his services as attorney for the defense.

Prosecuting attorney Mike Harrington began the questioning in the noisy courtroom presided over by Judge John Wakefield. The first witness, Anne MacDonald, was soon reduced to a quivering mass under the badgering of the defense. The next witness, Sharon Wachter, met a similar fate. However Jaeger's methods failed to produce any startling information.

Sister Philip Neri, government teacher and proctor, was sworn in at the request of Harrington. She was forced to admit that the room was in "noisy confusion" (the exact words of Jaeger) but staunchly testified as to the irregularity of the defendant's actions. It was established that the crook failed to halt at the proctor's entreaty of "Where are you going?"

Jaeger stressed to the jury that possibly Miller did not hear this demand because of the pre-class confusion.

The defendant then consented to testify. He stated that John Hartnett planned the crime, saying "Let's go, just to see what she (Sister Philip Neri) will do!Miller further said that he had heard Sister's words, but didn't think she was talking to him.

The defense rested his case, and the prosecution began his summary asking for a conviction and recommendation for maximum punishment. The defense then tried, blunderingly, to refute the previous incriminating testimony.

The defendant was taken from the room by bailiff Mike Elgee and the jury deliberated. Reaching a decision, with the advice of courtroom observers, the jury signaled for the return of the criminal.

Under the protest of attorney Jaeger, Miller was found suilty and sentenced to stand with his nose in a circle on the blackboard for the rest of the period (about three minutes). Needless to say, the convict protested, calling for an appeal. His attorney tried desperately to win a new trial but failed to do so before the bell rang ending class.

Senior Memories

We will always remember:

the blue "bandit" and his accomplices,

the long crowded lines at the candy counter,

the glossy look of a newly resurfaced gym floor,

the undefeated football season and the ensuing "Team of the Year" award, the close relations between some of the seniors and the underclassmen,

Sister M. Beatrice's, "MYOB", and the Academy grapevine, Tom Pringle's gems of philosophical wisdom,

the revised liturgy and the new Mass songs, the retreat which broke down the old customs of segregated church seating, the long hours spent stuffing 30,000 napkins into yards of chicken wire for the Senior Ball Castle, the endless raffle sales and magazine drives, the friendships which will last a lifetime.

Seniors Interrogated

"WHAT DO YOU WANT MOST FOR GRADUATION?"
When this question was asked of the seniors, many replied that they hadn't even thought of it, being so busy with exams and all. However there were a few brave souls who had given the matter at least a few moments thought. So if in doubt about what to give your favorite senior here are some ideas:

Mary Brophy....a motorcycle

Tom Pringle....a diploma

Mike Peters....an XKE

Haldeen Galles....a hope chest

Jerry Jaeger....a class motto

Kris Yacks and Janice Purdy....contacts

Bob Meyers....a million dollars and a one way ticket to heaven.

Linda McDonell....an annual in my hand, (before graduation)

Valerie McRill....a lot of new habits
Robin Hultner....a finished valedictory speech.

Mike Elgee....sleep Jeamie Fraijo....a job

Pat McCormick....anything anyone will give me

WHERE DO YOU PLAN TO BE NEXT SEPTEMBER?

This was the question asked of many seniors in the past week. Some of the not-to-serious replies are as follows:

John Miller. Right here!

John Hartnett. Layin' on some beach someplace -- I hope

Mike Elgee. Probably fighting a Viet Cong.

Mike Peters..Collecting VC sweatshirts

Patty Keane. Ha, ha, ha, JC

Jeanie Fraijo..In Nevada

Tom Pringle. Seminary

Anne MacDonald..I don't know! (a typical reaction)
Haldeen Galles..Right here. I mean Coeur d'Alene

Valerie McRill.. In the Convent!
